huh

Although Huawei has been going through tough times since facing US trade sanctions, the company's Research & Development department is steadily developing new phones and technologies. For example, with the recently introduced Huawei P50 Pocket, the company has introduced a versatile and powerful clamshell phone with some unique features that are not found on other devices.

Huawei has equipped the P50 Pocket with a round cover display, which can also be used as a smart mirror. A Sunscreen Detection mode is available. Once activated, the phone measures whether enough sunscreen has been applied to your face and whether it is evenly distributed. The phone can also detect whether your makeup has been properly removed. To make this possible, a 32MP Hyperspectral camera has been built in.

that the Chinese manufacturer has even more creative ideas for the future. Huawei has filed a camera technology that should make it possible to analyze your face and skin structure, in order to give advice based on that.
