Intellectual Property

These FAQs are provided to help you better understand intellectual property as it relates to your use of Merch by Amazon. These FAQs do not constitute legal advice. If you have questions about intellectual property laws or whether or not you have sufficient rights to a particular item to use it with Merch by Amazon, you should consult with an attorney.

What restrictions apply to my use a third party's intellectual property?

In accordance with our Content Policy, Amazon cannot make, sell, distribute, or promote items that infringe the intellectual property rights (including copyright, trademark and publicity rights) of a third party. This means that you should either have obtained a license or otherwise received permission from any third party whose intellectual property you wish to use with Merch

Vizle Why is there a limit on the number of designs I can submit?

In order to provide the best experience for customers of products created in Merch by Amazon, we are limiting the number of products a content creator can make based on tiers of designs. The Merch by Amazon team will be hand-selecting content creators who have sold the same amount of products as the number of the tier they are in. For example – to move up from the 10 tier, a content creator will need to sell at least 10 products from those they have created to move up to the 25 tier. Admission to these tiers are based not only on sales, but the quality of the products being sold by the content creator as well.

Tier levels include:

- 10
- 25
- 100
- 500
- Pro (by invitation)

What does each design status mean on the “Manage” page?

A Merch by Amazon design will show on your manage page in 1 of 8 statuses. The status of your design will notify you of where it is in the publishing process. Please note that live designs which are updated for price or title, brand or description will go back through these statuses as the updates are published. During this time, the previous version of the detail page will remain live on Amazon

1. Draft: A design in “Draft” status is either A) a design which has not yet been submitted for review or B) a live design which has updates that have not yet been submitted for review. To get these designs into “Live” status, you should use the
